

WAY TO APPEAL IN RATE CASES

This Question Consumes Much of the Day in the Discussion in the Senate.

DEAL WITH CAPITALIZATION

Mr. Tillman Suggests Such an Amendment and Mr. Hepburn May Offer It.

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 21.—The entire day in the Senate was devoted to the consideration of the railroad-rate bill. Mr. Culberson began the proceedings by presenting an amendment prohibiting corporations coming under the operation of the proposed law from making campaign contributions, and he was immediately followed by his colleague, Mr. Bailey, who offered the amendment so long promised by him, and followed this action with a speech in which he explained that he would not now present the amendment but for the fact that Mr. Dilliver had referred to and criticized it in an interview. He indicated some displeasure over the interview, but exonerated Mr. Dilliver from discrediting in the matter.

The young Senator disavowed any intention to reveal a Senate secret, and the incident was closed pleasantly. Both Mr. Bailey and Mr. Dilliver made speeches reiterating their views on the rate question and they were followed by more or less extended remarks by Messrs. Tillman, Patterson, Hepburn and Knox. Mr. Bailey was interrupted in the middle of his speech by the announcement of his father's death, and immediately left the Senate chamber.

Follows the Constitution.

Mr. Bailey referred especially to Mr. Dilliver's declaration that the Bailey provision would deny a judicial question and replied to the criticism by saying that he copied the language of the Constitution in his proposed amendment. Conceding that the courts must inevitably deal with the cases fixed by the commission, Mr. Bailey asked whether it was not possible that cases could be taken to the courts on writs on certiorari. Mr. Bailey admitted that for expedition this means might be the best, but extended doubt as to the methods of procedure as between a court and commission.

Mr. Rayner said the decisions of the Supreme Court are to the effect that the writ of certiorari cannot be used to take a case from an administrative body to a judicial body, but Mr. Daniel contended that such authority could be conferred by legislation. While Mr. Hepburn was speaking Mr. Tillman suggested that he present an amendment covering the question of capitalization, saying that he for one, would be pleased to vote for it. "Give us something concrete so that we can vote on it," he added.

Mr. Hepburn intimated that he might act upon the suggestion later. Mr. Bacon was appointed a member of the commission to attend the Patterson funeral, and the Senate adjourned as a mark of respect.

ISLE OF PINES TREATY.

Senate, in Executive Session, Discusses It But Acts Not.

WASHINGTON, March 21.—The Senate in executive session to-day, had under consideration, the Isle of Pines treaty, but after a general discussion lasting more than an hour, the legislative session was resumed without action having been taken. The treaty was called up by Senator Foraker, who drew the majority report for the Committee on Foreign Relations recommending ratification of the treaty. The treaty was opposed by Senator Morgan, author of the minority report, and Senator Penrose, who represented the interests of a number of residents of the islands, who went there from Pennsylvania. They took the position that if the treaty was ratified, the islands ceded to Cuba, the interests of Americans on the island would be jeopardized.

Senators Spooner and Bacon have agreed informally upon an amendment to the treaty designed to give the islanders local autonomy, but this has not yet been offered.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

NOFOLK, Va., March 21.—The three-masted schooner Raymond of Hull, commanded by Captain D. E. Higgins, of Somers Point, N. J., was beached at 2 o'clock this morning about half a mile north of Ollie Shoal Life-Saving Station, twenty-five miles north of Hatteras, N. C. The vessel is loaded with lumber and is bound from Sallia River, Ga., for Philadelphia. She now lies head on the beach and is full of water, but her cargo, including a cargo of coal, is safe. The crew, consisting of seven men, were rescued and safely landed in a surf boat by Captain Zora Burrus, of the Ollie Shoal station, at 3 o'clock this morning. The schooner was damaged by a heavy northerly gale, his vessel sprang a leak, and that the water gradually gained on her, despite all efforts of the crew to keep her free. Last night the leak became worse, and the water gained so rapidly that he decided to beach her. The vessel has a gross tonnage of 1,285 tons. She was built at Cooper's Point, N. J., in 1881.
